

Leadership & Organizational Studies

Bachelor of Applied Studies

Employers today are looking for individuals who can step into leadership positions and quickly adapt to an ever-changing work environment. UW Oshkosh's Bachelor of Applied Studies (BAS) is designed for adult learners who work in technical jobs and would like to move into advanced positions.

Students in the Leadership and Organizational Studies (L&OS) program will advance their career potential by developing skills and knowledge in the following areas:

- Leadership applications and best practices
- Organizational behavior
- Strategic, tactical and operational planning and implementation
- Interpersonal communication
- Conflict resolution and negotiation skills
- Project management
- Research and analysis

The L&OS program builds on the applied skills gained through a technical college degree by adding a theoretical background, as well as communication and problem-solving skills. A block of 45 credits will be awarded to those with an approved technical degree, in addition to applicable general education courses. Contact an advisor to find out how to apply your credits to this program.
